12th annual meet set for June 16-18 in Tacoma

The 2005 AFPAAA Annual meeting will be held at the Sheraton Tacoma Hotel in Tacoma, Washington, June 16 through 18, with visits to McChord AFB and the Museum of Flight near Seattle on June 17.

The meeting theme, “Power Projection and Homeland Protection”, will highlight the dual missions of Air Force, Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard units in the Puget Sound area.

The Sheraton Tacoma is located in the heart of a newly revitalized downtown, within walking distance to a free trolley ride of state of the art museums, specialty shopping and restaurants.

Washington State is the home of a number of military facilities and organizations.

McChord AFB is the home of the Air Mobility Command’s 62nd Airlift Wing, which recently made the conversion to C-17s and has been an active participant in support of operations in Afghanistan and Iraq, as well as tsunami recovery missions.

Their partner unit, the Air Force Reserve’s 446th Airlift Wing, blends Reserve aircrews and support personnel into the C-17 airlift activities.

The Air National Guard’s Western Air Defense Sector at McChord is responsible for aerial security and defense from the Mississippi River through the West Coast.

Immediately next door to McChord is Fort Lewis, home of the Army’s I Corps and three of the Brigade Combat Teams that use the new Stryker vehicle.

Fairchild AFB, near Spokane in Eastern Washington hosts AMC’s 92nd Air Refueling Wing and the Air National Guard’s 141st Air Refueling Wing

Members and guests will also be able to take advantage of other significant events scheduled for the weekend, including the Olympic Flight Museum “Gathering of Warbirds” in Olympia, a short

Committee recommends making hotel reservations early

McChord AFB will be hosting a major event, the Air Mobility Command Airlift Rodeo, at the same time as the Annual Meeting and hotel space in the area will be very much in demand. The cut-off date for reservations is May 26, 2005, after which rooms will be sold on a space-available basis.

The group rate for the hotel is $99 plus tax, or approximately $113.00 per day. Reservations can be made online through the AFPAAA web site, or by phone at 253-572-3200. The Group

Code is 51FC8 (Air Force Public Affairs Alumni Assn).

Reservation correspondence can be faxed to (253) 591-4105, or addressed to Sheraton Tacoma Hotel, 1320 Broadway Plaza, Tacoma, WA 98402.

PA Snoopings.....

Several members of the Air Force Public Affairs Alumni Association Board of Directors will step down June 30 when their term of office ends.

Dave Smith, Mike Gannon and Al Eakle have served on the board for several years.

Dave and Mike will continue to serve as ex-officio board members having served as chairman.

Al will also be stepping down as newsletter editor, this being his last issue. A call is going out for a volunteer to take over editorship of the newsletter. Anyone interested should contact Charley Powers at CPowers@afpaaa.org.

Remember when the weasel word "recently" might be slipped into a news release to try to disguise "news" that wasn't exactly, er, new?

Well, Mark Foutch tells us that "recently" (i.e., January '04) he was inducted into Fort Lewis' brand new Civilian Hall of Fame, for community leaders who've supported that major military installation. Mark, who's Mayor of nearby Olympia, Washington, was one of six initial inductees.

Others included two retired Army officers who are also mayors of towns near the Fort, plus U.S. Representatives Norm Dicks and Doc Hastings.

Doing the honors was Mark's fellow San Jose State graduate Lt. Gen. Ed Soriano. Photos and short biogs of Hall of Fame inductees are on display in the front hall of I Corps headquarters. (Even Mark agrees that this announcement stretches the term "recently" well past its breaking point...)

Several senior PA leaders have, or will be completing their military careers this year, or are moving on to new challenges within the Air Force.

Col. Jay DeFrank, the SAF/PA deputy, retires June 1.

Col. Tony Epifano, AFNEWS commander, retires June 30.

Col. Jack Ivy, AFMC/PA director, retires and will be succeeded by Col. Ed Worley, currently USAFE/PA director, in mid-March.

Col. Bob Williams, ACC/PA director, retired and was succeeded by Col. Chuck Wynne, currently ACC/PA deputy, in February.

Col. Susan Strednansky, AFNEWS vice commander, will succeed Ed as USAFE/PA director.

Air Force bands now deploy as part of the service's 10 Air and Space Expeditionary Forces (AEFs), following a request from Gen. John P. Jumper, Chief of Staff.

Previously, Air Force bands would operate on temporary duty when they traveled to overseas theaters. Now they will be on the AEF schedule, deploying to a theater where they'll perform at various locations during the rotation cycle.

The Band of Liberty, Hanscom AFB, Mass., which was the first to deploy for an AEF rotation, found itself at Balad AB, Iraq, when the base came under attack. According to a Air Force news release, the band donned protective gear and kept on playing.

Seven public affairs officers have been selected to attend the Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT) Civilian and Education With Industry (EWI) programs.

Those attending AFIT will do so either through a 12-month Mass Communications master's program at San Diego State University or an 18-month program at another civilian institution.

Those selected include:

Capt. Shane Balken, 100 ARW/PA, RAF Mildenhall UK (AFIT);

1Lt. Matthew Hasson, 92 ARW/PA, Fairchild AFB WA (AFIT);

Capt. Paula Kurtz, 47 FTW/PA, Laughlin AFB TX (AFIT);

Capt David Malakoff, SAF/PAR, Pentagon (AFIT);

Capt John Haynes, 35 FW/PA, Misawa AB Japan (EWI);

Capt April Cunningham, 375 AW/PA, Scott AFB IL (EWI);

Capt Morshe Araujo, 81 TRW/PA, Keesler AFB MS (EWI);

The following people upgraded to lifetime memberships:

Sabra J.B. Bryant, Clemens W. Gaines, William B. Knowlton and Lyle L. "Pat" Paulson.

Twelve PA officers will compete to become commanders of Mission Support, Training, Services, and Recruiting Squadrons. They include:

Lt. Col. Manning Brown, 82nd TRW/PA;

Lt. Col. Robyn Chumley, SAF/PA;

Lt. Col. Stephen Clutter, PACAF/PA;

Lt. Col. William Nichols, HAF/CX;

Lt. Col. Andrew White, AFSOC/PA;

Maj. John Dorrian, 305th AMW/PA;

Maj. Michel Escudie, USCENTCOM/CCE;

Maj. William Manley, 2d BW/PA;

Maj. Patrick Ryder, USAFE/PA;

Maj. Edward Sholtis, 16th AF/PA;

Maj John Thomas, ACSC Student;

Maj. Ron Watrous, ACC/PA

Annual Golf tourney moves to May 17

Spring may not come early this year, but the annual SAF/PA Golf Tournament will. The 28th Annual SAF/PA Golf Tournament is set for May 17 at the Andrews AFB, Maryland, with a 2 p.m. start and a best ball format.

Traditionally, the event is held in September; the earlier date is an attempt to decouple it from many other activities in the fall that prevent SAF/PA members and alumni from participating.

Each year the Air Force Public Af-

New Centurion Fund Aids endowment

A year ago the AFPAAA Board of Directors challenged a committee made up of Charley Powers, CB Kelly and the late John Gulick to develop a way to promote more awareness of and add to the coffers of AFPAAA's Endowment Fund.

Thus, the Centurions were born.

To become a Centurion members simply donate $100 to the AFPAAA Endowment Fund. In return, at the next annual meeting, one Centurion donor's name will be drawn and he or she will receive a full refund of their annual meeting registration fee. (The refund can be applied to the current or next annual meeting.)

It is hoped that the public drawing and attendant publicity will attract further contributions.

If even half of each meeting's attendees join the Centurions, the program would earn about $5000 per annual meeting, a substantial addition to the foundation.

Medicare B necessary for Tricare of Life

Recently, DOD identified about 68,000 TRICARE For Life (TFL) eligible beneficiaries who do not have Medicare Part B, which is necessary for them to receive TRICARE benefits.

TMA sent these individuals a letter advising them of this requirement and that Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) would be sending them a second letter.

Apparently, CMS did not send the promised follow-up letters to about 30,000 of these beneficiaries.

Many of these beneficiaries have enrolled or declined enrollment in Medicare Part B. However, some may have been waiting for the letter from CMS prior to taking any action.

These beneficiaries will lose their TRICARE eligibility beginning Jan. 1, 2005. TMA has been working closely with CMS and the Social Security Administration (SSA) on a joint resolution on this issue.

Both SSA and the TMA are posting information on home pages to inform beneficiaries of the impact this will have on their health care and some actions they can take if they expect to have TRICARE benefits, but do not.

Please check this link to read more and contact TRICARE if need be to ensure that your coverage is continued.: <http://www.tricare.osd.mil/medicare/medicarepartbupdate.cfm>

Personnel records to stay at AFPC

End of 49-year-old practice saves money; gives better access

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AFPN) — Airmen who retire or separate don't have to wait several months to receive requested copies of certain records because of a recent change in how the Air Force maintains personnel records.

The 49-year-old practice of sending nearly 5,500 personnel records each month to the National Personnel Records Center in St. Louis ended in February as part of an effort to save money and give Airmen better access to their records, officials said.

"People usually have a lengthy wait before receiving copies of their records from the NPRC, and it costs the Air Force around $8 million a year to maintain records there," said Jo Hogue, chief of master personnel records at the Air Force Personnel Center here. "That price tag would keep increasing if we sent more records to the NPRC, and our customers wouldn't have the accessibility we'll be able to provide."

"(AFPC Airmen are) committed to providing state of the art, convenient, leading-edge service, and this is another step in the effort to make Air Force personnel records available online anytime," said Maj. Gen. Anthony F. Przybyslawski, AFPC commander. "We hope to be able to offer that capability to our active-duty customers sometime in the next few of years."

In the meantime, former active-duty Airmen who retired or separated on or after Oct. 1, 2004, can request copies of records by writing to AFPC/DPFFCAMP, 550 C St. W., Suite 19, Randolph AFB, TX 78150 or faxing (210) 565-4021 or DSN 665-4021.

People requesting their own records need to send a signed note that includes their name, Social Security number, contact information and specific record requested.

Those requesting a relative's record also need to provide their relationship to the former Airman. Former Guard and Reserve Airmen who retired or separated on or after Oct. 1, 2004, can write to HQ ARPC/PSDC, 6760 E. Irvington Place, Suite 4000, Denver, CO 80280 or fax (303) 676-7071 or DSN 926-7071.

Those who retired or separated before Oct. 1, 2004 can visit the NPRC Web site for record request instructions.

This change does not affect the disposition of medical and dental records, Mrs. Hogue said. They still will be stored permanently at the NPRC.

"From now on, all Air Force personnel records will be scanned for permanent electronic storage here in the Automated Records Management System, and the records that are already at the NPRC will stay there," Mrs. Hogue said. "Converting the records from paper to electronic also provides an additional backup version of each record."

Before this change, the paper copy that went to the NPRC was the only copy of a person's record; now there are two electronic versions in separate locations, Mrs. Hogue said.

The new system's backups are approved by the National Archivist, the head of the National Archives and Records Administration, the federal agency responsible for preserving our nation's history. The new backup systems allow the Air Force to again eliminate paper versions of records.

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas — Sam Ballard and Robert Weston load file boxes of records onto a pallet here in February. The boxes were part of the final 1,800 records in paper form to be delivered to the National Personnel Records Center in St. Louis. The automated records management systems branch here will soon process all records in an electronically scanned format. (U.S. Air Force photo by Tech. Sgt. James Brabeneć)

From 1971 to 1994, AFPC destroyed the original copies of individual master personnel records because a microfilm copy was attached to the Unit Personnel Record Group that was forwarded to the NPRC, Mrs. Hogue said.

When the first electronic record storage system started in 1995, AFPC began storing paper copies of master personnel records again because the new system did not provide a backup like the microfilm did.

Those who served or are currently serving on active duty can call the Air Force Personnel Contact Center more information at (800) 616-3775, commercial (210) 565-5000 or DSN 665-5000. Those who served or are serving in the Air National Guard or Reserve can call the Air Reserve Personnel Center at (800)525-0102.

Candidates seek seats with the board of directors

Linda Arnold has been a member of the Air Force Public Affairs Alumni Association Board of Directors since 2002.

She is a retired chief master sergeant who served more than 25 years as a broadcaster.

Her military assignments included Thailand, Turkey, Berlin, Italy, Japan and the Defense Information School. Her last assignment was at AFNEWS where she was the chief of broadcasting for the Air Force Broadcasting Service.

Since retiring in Aug. 1997, Linda does public relations consulting work in the San Antonio area.

Sam Giammo is the director of Public Affairs for the University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center, a position he has held since August 1997. He has more than 38 years experience in public relations and public affairs.

He retired from the Air Force in 1994 as a colonel following an assignment in SAF/PA, first as director of Resources, and then deputy director.

He is accredited in public relations by the Public Relations Society of America, and in 2001 was elected to the PRSA College of Fellows. In addition, he is currently chair-elect of the New Mexico Ronald McDonald House Charities Board of Directors.

Hank Hufnagle is a financial advisor with H&R Block, specializing in retirement and education investment planning.

He began his Air Force career as a staff auditor and later resident auditor at Dow AFB, Maine.

While on active duty completed graduate study at the University of Colorado and assignments in Vietnam and Headquarters U.S. Air Forces in Europe.

He left active duty and joined the Air Force Reserve with leadership responsibility for public affairs.

His final Air Force Reserve assignment was at U.S. Strategic Command, Offutt AFB, Neb. Hank retired in 1994.

Active in the community he currently serves on the Finance Committee of the AFPAA (past 4 years) and he is Treasurer of the Wilmette Harbor Rotary Club. He is, also, President of his town home association. Previously, he has been Illinois Air Force Association President, Past President, and Chicago O'Hare Chapter of the Air Force Association, Past President

CB Kelly has served on the AFPAAA Board of Directors since 2003.

He is a retired lieutenant colonel who served more than 25 years as a navigator and public affairs officer.

His military assignments included The Azores, Air Force ROTC duty at Georgetown University, Vietnam and the Pentagon. His last assignment was as chief of the SAF/OI Los Angeles office.

He retired in 1978 to join the Atlantic Richfield Company where he headed their Design, Audiovisual, Graphics, Television, Motion Picture and Photographic departments for 15 years.

Christine Queen is seeking her first term on the Board of Directors. She is a Lifetime Founding Member of the Air Force Public Affairs Association.

Working under a contract managed by Northrop Grumman, she is the senior marketing strategist for the Headquarters, Army Continuing Education System (HQ, ACES). Since retiring from the Air Force on 28 February 1998, she has worked for Litton, PRC and with the company's absorption now Northrop Grumman IT.

During her 20 years on active duty, Christine was a public affairs officer and an airman for 10 months in the missile maintenance fields of Montana. Some of her PAO positions include assignments as Chief, Plans and Programs, Ballistic Missile Defense Organization (BMDO), Pentagon; Director of Public Affairs, 2nd Air Force, Beale AFB, Calif.; and Chief of Public Affairs, 28th Air Division, Tinker AFB, Okla.

Her deployments include being one of the first PAOs in country for Desert Shield ('90) and the first PAO for the President's Counternarcotics Operation in Puerto Rico.

Christine stays involved in the community. While living in Virginia she served as President of the Capital Area Illinois State University Alumni Chapter for two years revitalizing the chapter into its present active status. She joined the board of the Peoria chapter for two years upon her return to Illinois in 2002.

Her military organization affiliation include life time membership with the Air Force Association and the Military Officers Association of America and is on the local MOAA board.

As a telecommuter to Virginia, Christine stays in contact with the business community through her membership with the Public Relations Association of Central Illinois (PRA).

Miles Wiley is currently the Director, Information and Decision Management, Office of the Executive Secretary, Department of Homeland Security.

Retired Col. Al Hatcher died Jan. 29.

He served as special assistant and speechwriter to three Air Force Chiefs of Staff, including Gen. Curtis E. LeMay. He retired in 1971 after 30 years of service.

He is survived by his wife Mary, two daughters, two sons, three step-sons, 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Patricia Ann Hermann

Patricia Ann Hermann, 75, wife of retired Col. Bob Hermann died Jan. 24. They had been married 25 years.

Bob wrote: "I want to thank all of you who sent messages of condolence and concern during the short and unexpected illness and death of my wife, Pat.

"She loved working with all of you and socializing at our reunions. She was always ready to help anyone who asked, and she was the most upbeat person I knew.

"Thank you all for the kind expressions of remembrance."

Retired Col. Boone Rose Jr. and Dorothy (Dot) Davis Rose

Boone Rose Jr., 83, and Dorothy (Dot) Davis Dot Rose, 82, died Dec. 23, 2004. They both died of unrelated causes approximately 22 hours apart.

The two turned a chance meeting at a high school basketball game into a life of adventure and travel as a United States Air Force family.

Boone began his military career when he enlisted as an aviation cadet in 1942.

During World War II, Boone flew 45 combat missions as pilot of a B-17, and six combat missions in the B-26, accumulating a total of 315 combat hours in the European Theater of Operations (ETO).

After his military recall in 1950, Boone served two years as flight instructor for the B-29 bomber before transitioning to aircraft commander of a KC-97. in the 310th Air Refueling Squadron at Smokey Hill Air Force Base, Kan.

In 1968 was appointed executive officer to the Commander of the Seventh Air Force at Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Vietnam.

Boone rescued a fellow serviceman from a burning building during the Tet Offensive in 1968 and received the Airman's Medal for heroism.

His final USAF assignment was as Base Commander at Myrtle Beach AFB, SC. He retired in 1975 as command pilot with over 7,000 flying hours.

Survivors include four daughters, 11 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

A private burial with full military honors was held Dec. 29, 2004.

Retired Lt. Col. Wayne A. Tongue

Retired Lt. Col. Wayne A. Tongue, 66, died July 8, 2004.

He began his military career when he joined the Marine Corps in 1956.

He enlisted in the Air Force in 1961. He was commissioned a second lieutenant after completing an Air Force Institute of Technology assignment at Michigan State University where he earned a bachelor's degree.

His assignments include Vietnam, Hill and Knowlton Public Relations in New York, Air Force Recruiting, and Iran. He retired in 1988.

He is survived by his wife Marilyn, and a son.

DFAS website moves to new home

ARLINGTON, Va. (AFPN) — The Defense Finance and Accounting Service public Web site moved to a new location on the Internet, officials announced March 2.

The old site, www.dfas.mil, will remain available through March 31. Then, users will be redirected to the new site, www.dod.mil/dfas, and links to pages on the previous site will generate an error message notifying users of the move, officials said.

Webmasters who link to the site or pages within the site should review their links and update them accordingly, officials said.

The move will enhance the performance of the site by providing redundancy to prevent down time and by providing an opportunity for enhanced features in the future, officials said.

“Our goal is to provide the best service and products possible to the men and women who defend America,” said Claudia Bogard, the service’s corporate communications director. “With this move, our customers can rely on DFAS for faster access to information whenever they need it from anywhere around the globe at any hour of the day or night.”

Officials said the move also will provide the following benefits:

— Increase the speed of the site by more than 12 times.

— Improve search capability to allow DFAS content to be found on any of dod-dot-mil sites.

— Allow DFAS content to be found at www.dod.mil/dfas, www.defense.mil/dfas, www.pentagon.gov/dfas, www.defense.gov/dfas, www.defenselink.mil/dfas or www.defense.gov/dfas.

— Create stronger alignment between DFAS and DOD public Web sites.

— Reduce the burden of public Web traffic to DFAS networks.

Online subscription ensures speedy newsletter delivery

Members of the AFPAAA can “subscribe” to on-line delivery of the Association’s quarterly newsletter, saving the organization costs in printing and postage in the process.

“When it comes time for the next newsletter to be published, subscribers are sent a publication alert at the email address they provide, said John Gura, webmaster for the AFPAAA site. “You can then choose to read the newsletter online in a text-only version or download a PDF file and read it on your computer. You can even print it out- photos, graphics and all”

Gura reminded subscribers that if they subscribe now, they will no longer receive the newsletter via “snail mail.”

“Subscribers will have the satisfaction of helping us save money and you’ll get the newsletter weeks sooner too!”

People who change their mind after trying the on-line subscription can easily re-establish “snail mail” delivery.

Names sought for PA memorial

The Public Affairs Memorial Selection Committee is now accepting nominations for recognizing Public Affairs, Broadcast and Band personnel who were killed in the line of duty.

The USAF Public Affairs Memorial, sponsored by the AFPAAA, is a tribute to those men and women who have died on an official PA assignment whether by hostile fire or in a duty related accident/incident.

Nominations, at a minimum, should include the nominee’s name, rank and service number, a detailed description of the circumstances and explanation of why the individual is being nominated.

Nominations should be sent to AFPAAA, P.O. Box 550, Fairfax, VA 22030-0540 and marked “PA Memorial” on the envelope. A full text of the PA Memorial document will be posted on the AFPAAA web site.

Questions should be directed to Ed Johnson, project chair, at (210) 653-2839 or e-mail pamemorial@afpaaa.org.

The Air Force Public Affairs Alumni Association newsletter is published quarterly for members of the Association. Online subscriptions are available at www.afpaaa.org

From the Chairman of the Board

by Mike Gannon

Since its inception, a primary Air Force Public Affairs Alumni Association focus has been to help the active duty force.

We can do that in a number of ways and we all need to review our efforts and see if there is something we can, and should, be doing to support our Air Force.

By just casually reading the newspaper each day we are constantly being told of upcoming budget cuts in DoD and the possible impact on a number of Air Force programs, including the F-22 and C-130J acquisition programs.

We can also read of increasing pressures on the Guard and reserve forces and the continuing fallout over recent “bad news” stories concerning the Air Force’s acquisition programs, senior leadership ethical issues, and the Air Force Academy.

All the more reason to be proactive in helping ensure the positive news about the great things our Air Force is doing is getting out to the public.

Writing letters to the editor, calling local talk shows, and speaking at local schools, civic and fraternal meetings are just a few of the ways we can help.

We need to stay current in what’s happening – read the Air Force Policy

Letter, Airman magazine, and other publications to stay tuned into current Air Force policies.

Stay informed and help ensure that our friends, neighbors, and fellow citizens are made aware of the many positive things our Air Force is doing to support the Global War on Terrorism, sustain its warfighting readiness and expeditionary focus, and expand its contributions to the joint fight.

There are a lot of good things happening and we need to do what we can to help ensure that message is getting out. No effort is too small and I encourage your continued efforts to help tell the Air Force story.

Sincerely

Mike

The President’s Pen.....

by Charley Powers

As I face my blank computer screen, I realize I have few remaining opportunities to write the “President’s Pen.” Dave Barry might say that’s great news for the readership—and even Dave’s taking a break from his weekly column.

However, it calls attention to the fact that Board members move up and eventually out. We are always looking for fresh blood and ideas for the AFPAAA Board of Directors. I would urge those interested in getting on the track to writing this column to come forward and be an active part of our wonderful association.

In my previous column I urged tax-deductible contributions to the AFPAAA Endowment Fund so we can eventually have the economic security longed for by many non-profit associations. Please feel free to support the endowment financially with any amount you can afford. It would be great to develop the annual giving habit and if possible become a Centurion. Just check the AFPAAA web site for Centurion information.

The other issue of some concern to me and other members is AFPAAA, by its very nature is, demographically challenged. Neil Buttimer, who voluntarily spends hours of his time on membership reports, renewals and related business, reports that our membership has been trending down since 2003.

We’ve lost some very dear friends and former colleagues in 2004. In addition our overall renewal rate for 2004 was 86% for full members and a disappointing 44% for Associate members. We had assumed an 80% Associates renewal rate.

I ask you to reach out to former colleagues who do not already belong to AFPAAA and urge them to join. We also need to do a more effective marketing and liaison job with the active and reserve forces PAs. You can help if there is a base in your community. We can work it through SAF/PA as well.

AFPAAA enhances the entire Public Affairs career field by raising the image of professionalism and creating camaraderie. The active and reserve PAs can play a key role in this, while we can provide a depth of knowledge and experience that is hard to find.

One final point is to personally thank Al Eakle for his fine work producing an excellent AFPAAA newsletter. I look forward to seeing all of you at our annual meeting in Tacoma on June 16th and want to hear your views about the direction and future of AFPAAA.

Sincerely

Charley
